JOY

Working Arts Club and Working Class Creatives; two forces advocating for and uplifting working class voices in the arts teamed up to throw a party like no other, Celebrating our communities!

The event took place at The Art House from on Thursday 7 August and was an opportunity for our members to meet up with one another and celebrate through art, music, drinks, performances, and much more.

We kicked off with Sez Smith channeling ‘Ladette to Lady’ in her captivating reading, followed by Claire Voyant’s live séance to resurrect our lost regional accents. The room fell silent for a powerful performance by dance duo Tough Boys, before being shaken to life again by our headline act, Miss HerNia, whose phlegm-pop extravaganza brought shock and laughter with just the right amount of batshit crazy.

We had a special guest appearance from Paul Chuckle, artwork by Shauna Cribbins, Elleanna Chapman, Trackie McLeod and Sez Smith, as well as a mighty wall of crisps, teacakes and party rings, and plenty of beer! The night ended on a high with a joyful DJ set of bangers from Malyanne!

The party marks Working Arts Club’s first birthday and five years of Working Class Creatives, and is a celebration of where we come from, what we’ve built together, and everything we’re still dreaming of.
